Webmail Hack V2.5.rar ((TOP))

Today Ill start with a simple thing - its 2017 in the hack the box challenge I did for the 2017 Sans Holiday, its not the most complex box Ive ever done, and this will be the first post for my new blog. If youre a newer htb user (ie: I guess everyone is), then you might be asking WTF is Waldo? Well, Waldo is an account management panel. All the hacks I did for this challenge are secured against each other with open authentication, and Waldo takes that a step further with requiring a authentication token before I can even see the login screen, and requiring that users have an account to log into Waldo. Malicious files for the old Drupal platform are pretty good at infecting roundcube. Ill start with from finding some modules that could be used to bruteforce the password, and quickly get execution in the./shell process. With that, Ill pivot to the webmail instance to find credentials to connect to the roundcube email server from which the vulnerable module is being shipped, and a db to leak data. Ill copy over the one from the old Drupal installation to this new DB, so I can get information about the whole infestation. From this, Ill re-implement the apache2_count module to use the MemLog security module and get connections from the new module. This hack box is a bit odd. The frontpage states thats its an Android App. Based on the tagline of the HackTheBox University CTF from 2020, it seems that maybe the box isnt actually an App and its just a pre-existing website. Then there are the icons on the front page for platform-specific hacks, such as the Win10 icons for the Windows domain login. So I guess its Android with the Windows domain login, or maybe its Android with a Win10 OS?
