Of course, you might have a different opinion and that's fine. Everyone has their own taste and preferences when it comes to comedy and horror. But if you are curious to know what we think, here is our list:

1. Scary Movie (2000)

This is the film that started it all. The first Scary Movie is a hilarious spoof of Scream and I Know What You Did Last Summer, two of the most popular horror films of the late 90s. The film follows a group of teenagers who are being stalked by a masked killer after they accidentally hit a man with their car and dump his body in a lake. The film also parodies other films and TV shows, such as The Matrix, The Blair Witch Project, The Sixth Sense, Dawson's Creek, and more. The film is full of witty jokes, absurd situations, and memorable characters, such as Cindy Campbell (Anna Faris), Brenda Meeks (Regina Hall), Shorty Meeks (Marlon Wayans), Ray Wilkins (Shawn Wayans), Buffy Gilmore (Shannon Elizabeth), Bobby Prinze (Jon Abrahams), and Gail Hailstorm (Cheri Oteri). The film was a huge success at the box office, grossing $278 million worldwide. It also received mixed but mostly positive reviews from critics, who praised its humor and satire. It has a 51% rating on Rotten Tomatoes^[^1^], with the consensus saying: "Critics say Scary Movie overloads on crudity and grossness to get its laughs."

2. Scary Movie 3 (2003)

The third installment of the series is a spoof of The Ring, Signs, The Matrix Reloaded, 8 Mile, and more. The film follows Cindy Campbell (Anna Faris), who is now a TV reporter investigating mysterious crop circles and video tapes that kill people after seven days. She also helps the President of the United States (Leslie Nielsen) prevent an alien invasion. Along the way, she meets various characters, such as Brenda Meeks (Regina Hall), George Logan (Simon Rex), Tom Logan (Charlie Sheen), Mahalik (Anthony Anderson), CJ (Kevin Hart), Orpheus (Eddie Griffin), and The Architect (George Carlin). The film was directed by David Zucker, who is known for his work on Airplane!, The Naked Gun, and Top Secret!. The film was also co-written by Pat Proft and Craig Mazin, who are also experienced comedy writers. The film was a commercial success, grossing $220 million worldwide. It also received better reviews than the previous two films, with a 53% rating on Rotten Tomatoes^[^1^], with the consensus saying: "Though an improvement over the second Scary Movie, the laughs are still inconsistent."

3. Scary Movie 4 (2006)

The fourth film of the series is a spoof of War of the Worlds, Saw, The Grudge, The Village, Brokeback Mountain, and more. The film follows Cindy Campbell (Anna Faris), who moves into a haunted house with her new boyfriend Tom Ryan (Craig Bierko). She soon discovers that the house is connected to a mysterious video tape that kills people after seven days. She also learns that aliens are invading Earth and that she has to stop them with the help of Brenda Meeks (Regina Hall), Mahalik (Anthony Anderson), CJ (Kevin Hart), Zoltar (Bill Pullman), Henry Hale (Chris Elliott), and Shaquille O'Neal and Dr. Phil McGraw as themselves. The film was directed by David Zucker again and co-written by Pat Proft, Craig Mazin, and Jim Abrahams. The film was another hit at the box office, grossing $178 million worldwide. It also received mixed reviews from critics, with a 37% rating on Rotten Tomatoes^[^1^], with the consensus saying: "Sure to inspire a few chuckles, but not enough to compensate for the recycled material from its predecessors."
