How to Download the ASTM F1487-11 Standard for Playground Safety

The ASTM F1487-11 Standard Consumer Safety Performance Specification for Playground Equipment for Public Use is a document that provides safety and performance standards for various types of public playground equipment. Its purpose is to reduce life-threatening and debilitating injuries that may occur on playgrounds. The standard covers the following topics:

- Scope, referenced documents, and terminology
- Materials and manufacture
- General and performance requirements
- Requirements for access/egress, equipment, playground layout, accessibility, installation, structural integrity, maintenance, labeling, and information signage
- Keywords and figures

The standard applies to the 5th percentile 2-year-old through the 95th percentile 12-year-old users. It does not apply to home playground equipment, toys, amusement rides, sports equipment, fitness equipment intended for users over the age of 12, public use play equipment for children 6 to 24 months, and soft contained play equipment. It also does not address products or materials that are installed outside the equipment use zone, such as benches, tables, independent shade structures, and borders used to contain protective surfacing. The standard is issued by ASTM International, a global organization that develops and publishes voluntary consensus standards for various materials, products, systems, and services. The standard is updated periodically to reflect the latest research and best practices in playground safety. If you are interested in downloading the ASTM F1487-11 standard as a PDF file, you have to purchase it from the ASTM International website^[1] or other authorized distributors. The standard is subject to copyrights and its distribution peer-to-peer is illegal. The standard typically costs between $100 and $300 depending on the format and delivery method.
