- Choose Your Color Wisely: The color of your character and blocks determines which blocks you can collect and which bridges you can use. Try to choose a color that is not too common or too rare on the map. A common color will make it easier to find blocks, but also harder to find a free lane. A rare color will make it easier to find a free lane, but also harder to find blocks. - Collect More Than You Need: It is always better to have more blocks than you need than less. Having more blocks will allow you to build longer bridges, knock over more opponents, and avoid running out of blocks in the middle of a bridge. Try to collect as many blocks as you can while running around the map, but also watch out for obstacles and other players. - Knock Over Other Players: One of the best ways to gain an advantage over your opponents is to knock them over and take their blocks. You can knock over players who have a smaller stack than you by running into them or jumping on them. They will drop their blocks, which will turn grey, and you can add them to your own pile. However, be careful not to knock over players who have a bigger stack than you, as they will knock you over instead. - Use Your Attacks to Take Over a Bridge: If you haven't established a bridge yet, knocking a player over and taking over theirs is a great strategy. Smash them down, grab as many blocks as you can and then sprint to their bridge. Get a few blocks ahead of their color and you should be in a position where you're more likely to get to the end of the bridge before them. - Play the Bonus Stages: The bonus stages are a great way to grab massive piles of gold. Everything you collect there gives you a fat stack of coins, which you can spend on new skins, colors, blocks, and bundles. When you're given the chance to watch a video to play one of the bonus levels, it's definitely worth taking it.
